SELF HELP INC. COORDINATED FAMILY AND COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

Self Help Inc. is a non-profit (501C-3) Community Action Program and is the lead agency for the Coordinated Family and Community Engagement (CFCE) grant.

The Self Help Inc. CFCE program is provided funding through the following Early Education and Care (EEC) Grant:

- Coordinated Family and Community Engagement Grant

The goal of this grant, EEC and of SHI/CFCE is to develop a comprehensive, inclusive system of early care and education for families, children (pre-natal thru school-age) and programs. The SHI/CFCE programs are committed to providing the services that are the core of this system and delivered at the local level, in the communities we serve.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

Coordinated Family and Community Engagement Grant

- I. Act as a community based, information and resource hub for all families in order to increase knowledge of and accessibility to high-quality early education and care programs and services for families with children birth through age 8. This includes information and resources that address a wide range of transitions for families with children birth to eight.
- II. Promote evidence-based education, family engagement and literacy support through activities that:
 - a. recognize parents as their child's first teacher;
 - b. build on family strengths;
 - c. bolster parental leadership;
 - d. create parental opportunities for mutual support and social connections; and
 - e. build early and family literacy skills.
- III. Through a variety of methods, including advisory council meetings, email distribution, community resource guides and web postings, provide access to information and resources that support early education and care and out-of-school time educators/providers and programs across the public and private sectors to deliver high quality services.

Cradles to Crayons

617-471-8417

Cradles to Crayons pursues a simple mission - to put new and gently-used children's items into the hands of families who need them most. From strollers and car seats to books and clothing, we provide items that enrich the lives of children and the people who love them. Our success in meeting the basic needs of these at-risk children relies on the generous support of families, schools, faith-based and community organizations, local companies, and individuals. Together we make a real difference in the lives of these children and their families who are living in desperate situations.

Flipsize.com

617-471-8417

FlipSize.com had one objective in mind when launching into the market, Give parents something back for their unwanted or too small kids clothes, while actually saving them money and time. We do this by giving parents the ability to trade in their child clothes that are now too small, for ones that fit just right, and then allow them to continue the process as their child grows. This keeps them from having to spend the thousands of dollars that are spent on babies and kids clothing within the first few years.

Globe Santa

800-999-KIDS

Since 1956, Globe Santa has been The Boston Globe's annual appeal for needy children in Greater Boston. The Globe Santa Fund collects donations from general public to purchase holiday gifts for underprivileged children. Families request gift assistance by writing to Globe Santa, stating their family size and need. This need must be verified and countersigned by a social service or religious agency that has previously registered with Globe Santa Fund. The agency must have documented records of the particular family's situation. The deadline for family letters is generally before December.

North River Collaborative FAMILY NETWORK

781-681-9736

The NRC Family Network recognizes that parents are their child's first and most influential teacher. All of the activities are offered with the goal of helping parents build a warm, nurturing family that will support the child's social and emotional growth. NRC Family Network helps parents enrich their child's "learning through play" experiences by providing opportunities for parents and children to engage in creative play endeavors. All of our programs are free and are held at our Family Center in Rockland or at a variety of community locations in our member districts.

Parent - Child Home Program

The Parent-Child Home Program (PCHP) is a two-year early education and school readiness program offered in cities and towns throughout the state. PCHP helps parents develop their children's verbal skills through reading, play, and conversation. PCHP is a home visiting program. A trained home visitor visits each PCHP family twice a week during the school year, for ½ hour sessions. During the sessions, the home visitor reads and plays with the family, modeling behaviors that encourage verbal interaction between parent and child. The home visitor brings books and toys that the family gets to keep. Find a PCHP in your community, check the website below

The National Center for Fathering

dads@fathers.com

The National Center for Fathering (Fathers.com) is a nonprofit educational organization that provides research-based training and resources so that men are equipped to address their children's needs. Our goal is to reverse the cultural trend toward fatherlessness by helping every dad learn how to be a father. At Fathers.com, we believe every child needs a dad they can count on. The research is clear: children thrive when they have an involved father—someone who loves them, knows them, guides them, and helps them achieve their destiny. We inspire and equip men to be the involved fathers, grandfathers and father figures their children need.

It Gets Better Project

In September 2010, syndicated columnist and author Dan Savage created a YouTube video with his partner Terry to inspire hope for young people facing harassment. In response to a number of students taking their own lives after being bullied in school, they wanted to create a personal way for supporters everywhere to tell LGBT youth that, yes, it does indeed get better. The website www.itgetsbetter.org is a place where young people who are lesbian, gay, bi, or trans can see how love and happiness can be a reality in their future. It's a place where our straight allies can visit and support their friends and family members.

THIS IS A SIGN OF FUTURE PROSPERITY FOR EVERYONE IN MASSACHUSETTS

Whenever you see children interacting and learning in enriching environments, what you're really seeing is brain building in progress. The latest science shows that these early experiences actually build the architecture of the developing brain; much like a house is built from the bottom up. Each sequential step lays the groundwork for the next set of skills — like reading and math — and a lifetime of learning, success and productive, responsible citizenship.

Brain building is an investment that yields high returns. An investment in the economic prosperity of everyone in Massachusetts. Learn about the science of brain building and why our future depends on it.

In Massachusetts, families have many partners. The most valuable are the educators, caregivers and after school and summer programs that you choose during the first five years and beyond.

Check out www.brainbuildinginprogress.org/event-calendar for family activities and events or find a Brain Building Zone near you by visiting www.brainbuildinginprogress.org/resource-locator

Be a Brain Builder

What's the most important thing we can all do? Have an engaging interaction with a young child. Read a book with a toddler and have a conversation about it. Play peek-a-boo with a baby. Or, take the time to be completely fascinated by the artwork of a young neighbor, niece or nephew. Get down to their level. Look them in the eye. And really, really listen. Every interactive experience that an adult has with a young child creates valuable connections that permanently wire the architecture of an amazing work in progress. All of us are brain builders. In homes and schools, summer camps and family child care, supermarkets and subways, this kind of brain building is happening throughout Massachusetts. But we need your help to bring it to more children.

Before the age of three, the human brain develops more rapidly than at any other time in life.

Young children's brains develop 700 synapses (neural connections that transmit information) every second.
